Declining Quality of Life

Today we have homelessness, poverty, food instability, drought, and diseases... and that is just the beginning.

At a Global level people are feeling and reporting a declining quality of life, and they are all searching for a way out or for someone to blame. Our politicians continue pointing fingers at each other and the only solution they have provided has been to pump more money into the economy.

Everyone is talking about the problem but doing nothing to provide the solution. Is there any possible solution out there capable of changing our current trajectory and building a better sustainable economy?

The Crypto Ka-Boom

People saw Cryptocurrencies as their very own chance at financial freedom, with some pouring all their assets into Crypto with the dream of life changing returns. Unfortunately, the industry has been rampant with scams, hacks, heists, fraud, rug-pulls, and empty promises, leaving retail investors destitute.

A major problem is that Cryptocurrencies have been completely swallowed and digested by the conventional system because the root of the problem is not who controls the money, but what it's there for..?

Stabilizing the Stable Coins

The main factor for driving the price fluctuation of all these Cryptocurrencies has been speculation, and the underlying values of these Cryptocurrencies are founded upon ideas rather than assets. Even the stability of stable coins are surrounded in controversy* as they are either under collateralized or have nothing backing them at all. Investors looking for the safety of stablecoins have even seen their wealth evaporate due to the coins backing being essentially non-existent*.

What if a stable coin did exactly what it sounds like it should do?
What if the coin was actually backed by a stable asset..?

Proof of Real-Estate

Introducing the concept of Proof of Real Estate.

- Coins only minted (created) when a real estate is developed.
- A stable coin that will appreciate with the real-estate it backs.
- Backed by a real economy - the total production of all Factories
- Backed by the most technologically advanced construction system ever built.
- Most importantly, a coin backed by real cash : the proceeds from all of our licencing fees.

Digital Asset backed by a stable wealth creating assets.

One Tool - One Coin - One People

- We want to build a new economy interconnecting the force of blockchain cryptocurrency and our new High-Tech net-zero real-estate production.
- After years researching, developing, and testing our concepts, we have developed the next generation of real-estate construction that puts forward what we named the HEFT factors: Humanity, Earth and Future through Technology.
- The next step is to add a network (RhizOMA NTWK/App) connecting all the sustainable real-estate production (Glogreen Global Factories) and creating a metacurrency (Rhizo) that will give us a trustable currency to exchange.

The Factory - Our Tool

- Real-estate developments worldwide are still being built without a systemic/holistic approach, creating a chaotic money grabbing group of intermediaries that try to make money at every stage of the development process. They make everything inefficient and expensive.
- The whole system and process was in need of being re-thought from scratch, with the only intentions being efficiency, affordability and sustainability. Until now, there has been no other organizations today with the interest or the power to change that.
- It's for the same reasons that the automobile construction was brought into the world of manufacturing. No real change can happen in the world of real-estate if its not brought into manufacturing.
- Every other industry understood but not real-estate.
- With the introduction of the moving assembly line, Henry Ford was able to double the average daily wage of his time*, and allow everyone to afford a car today. Glogreen is poised to do the same thing with its Real-estate factory .
- Glogreen proved with its "hand-made" proof of concepts that is able to achieve a higher quality build with substantial cost savings and these results would only be amplified with the Glogreen Factory.
